This August, Clipped Right Wing Productions is bringing the cult classic Little Shop of Horrors to Granville Island.

Many of us remember the syrupy-sweet film version of Little Shop of Horrors starring Rick Moranis and Steve Martin. Clipped Right Wing Productions' take on the original Broadway script however, promises to have more B-movie horror and more Greek tragedy.

Producers Ian Harmon, Daniel Rempel and Shaun Aquiline have brought together an extremely talented, well-trained cast and crew.

"Little Shop of Horrors revisits the classic Faustian tragedy. 'How far will you go to get what you want?' is the question the musical poses," says Aaron Caleb, the show's director. Caleb recently completed his MFA in Directing at UBC.
